President's Report

Hello and welcome to another year of Free Wheeling.

I hope everyone had a relaxing and enjoyable holiday period. I managed to squeeze a few days away on John's trip to the high country. The trip was fantastic and some of the best scenery I have seen through this area. The unfortunate thing is that the return to work makes the holidays a distant memory, but in some respects we edge closer to the next trip away somewhere.

I have spoken about the rebuilding of Craig's Hut several times and the official opening has just passed. The Hut itself is basically the same except for a few changes to the rear and a brick floor on the inside. Other huts within the region are also being re built, including Bluff Hut which is not too far from being completed. The Stoney brothers have taken on this project and no doubt it will be just as good as the original. Hopefully in the not too distant future there will be a trip conducted taking in some of the huts and surrounding areas. It has been some time since the Club has run such a trip and it would be good to take in the sights again

As mentioned at the December meeting, we will have a stand at the Victorian 4WD Show (Wandin) to promote the Club. We will have two vehicles on display, along with numerous photos of past trips and activities. Our intention is to attract new members and increase the activity rate for trips, with the prospect of being involved in future committees. If you plan to attend the show, please come by and pay us a visit. Our stand is Number 51 which is located near Four Wheel Drive Victoria.

John has organised a mechanical overview night in March (see calendar). For some time we have discussed running such a night to give people a better understanding of basic maintenance you can perform on your vehicle, along with the inherent problems of some models. If time permits there will be a demonstration of how to perform some of the easier jobs such as wheel bearing etc. Due to the early starting time, light refreshments and drinks will be provided by the company. If you would like to attend please contact John and register your name as numbers will be restricted.

The calendar is looking good. Craig has a day trip, John is revisiting the Walhalla area, and the annual "A" grade trip will be for the more experienced and adventurous. I am also running the trip to the Murray River this year, but due to the distance of this trip, would like to see another trip leader and destination for the Easter weekend, so if you are heading away over Easter consider making it a club trip. All details are in the calendar and forthcoming trips information.

See you on the next trip – or at the next meeting.

- 2008 Cliffhanger event at White Cliffs NSW in July 2008. This event is now full, however there is still room for spectators. The event is fully catered. Details can be found at www.navrun.com.au.

Rudi also went on to mention that he has received funding from DSE & Melbourne Water to maintain some of the historically important sites in the Aberfeldy/Jericho area.

Thanks to Rudi for taking the time to come and speak to the club.

Trip Coordinator's Report:

John Partridge reported on the upcoming trips which include:

- | | |
|------------------------------------|--------|
| • 8-9DEC: Oxfam Xmas Tree Delivery | Ashley |
| • 27-DEC: Vic High Country | John |
| • 25-28JAN: Collins Hut | Ashley |
| • FEB TBA: Club Hard Trip – Noojee | John |
| • FEB TBA: Womat SF | Craig |
| • 7-10MAR: Rushworth SF | Paul |

John also went on to mention the importance of maintaining convoy procedure and keeping trip leaders informed if you decide to break away from the main group on a long trip, ie. several days away.

Trip Reports:

Cup Weekend: Anthony gave the trip report on Cup Weekend at Buffalo River. Apparently the long wet grass meant that most people were soaked from the knees down (or in the kids cases the forehead down) for the first couple of days. Plenty of rain made the going damp but luckily it was not cold. The group drove to Lake Cobbler and had an interesting slide back down the hill which meant that a few seat covers had to be forcibly retrieved. The roast was postponed till later in the weekend due to the poor weather. The Van Buiten's packed up and headed home on Monday leaving the rest of the group to visit Myrtleford.

Avoca: Bruce's High Country trip had to be postponed so a couple of diehards (Ashley, John and Paul) went to Avoca for Friday night/Saturday day trip. No power at the Elmhurst pub meant that dinner was a pie and a pasty. The following day the boys did Fraser Track, Old Bluff, Donkey Hill, Turpin Track and Slate Quarry. All had good fun and returned Saturday evening.

Annual Fishing Trip: Colin gave the report on the fishing trip which this year was held near Jamieson at 12 Mile Flat just upstream from Kevington pub. The camp site was terrific but the fishing less so, with only a couple of successes namely Liberty Rodger (Carp) and Richard Piotrowski (Trout). Colin and Brendan had no luck but enjoyed themselves all the same.

Christmas Party: John gave the report on the Christmas Party which was held this year at Bimbimie Wildlife Park. Everyone sat down to a BBQ lunch which was followed by a tour of the park (for those who felt adventurous enough to walk). This gave the kids a chance to feed the animals and learn a little more about them. Unfortunately Santa came while the kids were on the tour and had to leave their presents. Some lucky kids got water pistols which kept Ashley amused for what seemed like hours. Everything was done and dusted by 5.00pm and the group made their respective journeys home.

Association Report: Nil this month.

General Business:

Vic 4WD Show Wandin:

The club will be having a stand at the show this year to promote the club to prospective new members.

Craigs Hut:

The tender has gone out to M&C Improvements from Sunbury who commenced work on the hut in November 07. Addendum: this work has now largely been completed.

New Members:

The club welcomed new members Tim and Alison Baker, and Bob and Kathleen McKerrow.

Tea Duties: Lesley and Gary. Thankyou.

Raffle:

1st Prize: Wine won by Tim Axtell.
2nd Prize: Free Range Eggs won by Craig Major.
3rd Prize: Free Range Eggs won by Colin Armour.
4th Prize: Cooler won by Bob McKerrow.
5th Prize: Jaffle Iron won by Gary Johnston.

Meeting Closed at 10.15pm.

Next Meeting:

8.00pm, Tuesday 5 February 2008 at Dandenong Library.

Thursday 27th

John and I left home at a reasonable time to ensure we had a relaxing afternoon at the caravan park before we started touring. The drive to Omeo was better than expected with little traffic and a very easy 5 hour drive. We arrived at midday to find the Rodgers all set up on the edge of the creek which runs through the park. The day was spent at a very slow pace before cutting some timber then taking a swim in the river close to town. Gary, Steve and Mark all arrived at different intervals during the day.

Friday 28th

We were all up and at it early to start the day's adventure with a start time of 9.30am. Some were packed earlier than others so it was a quick stop at the bakery for the usual delicious country bakery delights. With John in the lead and me tail end Charlie, it was safe to say there wasn't going to be any problems with the navigation side of things. The route we planned was Misery Trail through to Davies Plain, Tom Groggan, Mt Pinnbar, Wheelers Hut and back to Omeo. We made our way to the start of Misery Trail where we aired down to tackle the first section. This proved to be easy and we continued along taking in the fantastic scenery. This area had been burnt some years ago and the majority of trees have not recovered, leaving bear trunks and limbs with the new growth starting to shoot up.

This made a great sight and would have looked even more spectacular wrapped in fog. Woven through the trees and new growth was a varied array of wild flowers which added to the scenery. This section was a great start to the trip and I was glad to be tail end Charlie to stop whenever and take plenty of photos. At one point John came over the radio advising he had lost his brakes. We pulled over and discovered the non return valve coming from the alternator that provides the vacuum for the brake booster had a hole in it. When we removed it the battery acid had eaten away the plastic. We repaired it with knead it and some tape but it didn't last long before it gave way again. As we were on reasonably flat ground and not far from camp, John carefully nursed the vehicle along until we could have a better look.

We reached the start of Davies Plain track. I have wanted to visit this area for many years but never had the opportunity. Not long into it we pulled up at Charlie Creek camping area which seemed like a great spot to stop for lunch. After lunch I wandered about the plains, coming across Creek which was crystal clear. The area would make for a great spot to camp and relax for a couple of nights. We continued along and made our way to Davies Plain Hut which was surrounded by a camping area that was in great condition. We decided to make camp here, but before we did John and I went a little further along the track to check out the river and see if there was any decent camping near there. After some time we decided we were better off at the hut and the river was only a short 5 minute walk.

It wasn't long before camps were erected and maintenance began on some vehicles.

Davies Plain Hut camping area

Davies Plain Hut

We fixed John's problem by removing the valve and joining the two hoses together. Steve was having trouble running on petrol and after removing the filter we discovered it was blocked with rust from the tank. After several flushes, enough rust was removed to run on petrol which made Steve a little more comfortable, especially with the remaining distance needed to travel. Mark's fridge wasn't working and after several checks and a fuse replaced it was 100%. My fridge had stopped running and after checking several things with the multimeter, the Piranha isolator wasn't working. I direct linked the 2 batteries together and it was up and running again. The thought of warm beer for the rest of the trip was depressing so thankfully it was an easy fix. After all that work some of us headed to the river crossing for a splash. It looked like the male version of Sirens with Mark, Steve, Gary and me the stars(?) While in the river, a vehicle passed by and stopped for a chat. After looking at one of the group who was down to his jocks, the female passenger commented that the water must be cold – I'm not sure how she came to that conclusion though!

Finally it was time to relax for the rest of the afternoon and evening. Steve had his roast sizzling away which smelled delicious. It's a pity there was no invite for dinner especially for the Pres. The flies must have smelt the roast as well 'cos the swarm around the meat while Steve was carving would have been enough to fill Steve's bathroom. The evening progressed and so did the stories with the increasing consumption of alcohol. You know you are in for a ride when the story starts out as "I shouldn't tell you but I will anyway" so the rest of the night was filled with Mark's Indy Car highlights, special fly tricks, and various other interesting facts that you would only hear around a camp fire.

Ashley

Saturday 29th

After a pleasant night's sleep at Davies Plain Hut, a few woke early to attempt to beat the hordes of flies for breakfast, but apparently didn't succeed. After packing up camp we were on the tracks by about 10:00am and descending down towards the Murray River. We were starting to encounter a fair bit of traffic on the track which indicated we were getting closer to the river crossing and Tom Groggin camping area. When we arrived at the river we were greeted with a steady flowing of only about wheel depth crossing, but still a nice long ford of the river.

After all successfully crossing, we parked up and went to dip the feet and take some photos of the river. While at the river, a fleet of 16 Landrovers and one Troopy arrived at the crossing. The 'Rovers consisted of mostly Disco's, but there were a couple of Range Rover Sports in the mix and it was interesting to watch them utilise their air suspension and raise their vehicles before the crossing.

When mobile again we drove through the Tom Groggin camp site on the New South Wales side, crossed back over into Victoria (we can all say we have driven through the Murray now) and checked out Dogman's Hut next to the Tom Groggin cattle station. After more happy snaps we headed uphill to find Mt Pinnabar track as we were about to head skyward about 1780m up to the summit. We stopped for lunch in a shaded area as the temperature was rising by lunch time. The next hour or so of driving can only be described as breathtaking, with views back towards Mt Kosciusko and abound. We stopped for many a photo but the best views were definitely at the top of Mt Pinnabar. With 360 degree views as far as you could see we were blessed with a perfect seeing day. After lining the cars up for a photo shoot we took in the views for ½ hour or so and then made our way down the other side of Mt Pinnabar.

Our destination for the night was Wheeler's Hut and we were all looking forward to a refreshing swim in the river. We arrived at the hut and were lucky enough to find the camping area around the hut vacant. We set up camp just in time as other groups arrived looking for somewhere to stay. We all enjoyed a cool swim in the nearby river, and afterward proceeded to wash the dust out of our throats with some cleansing refreshments. Usual talk around the fire after dinner saw the night out.

Thanks John for a great trip on some of the best scenery around, and to the other attendees for a great time.

Steve

Sunday 30th

As we were not that far away from returning to Omeo it was a more leisurely pack up than normal. We made our way to Pheasant Creek Track which brought us out onto Benambra-Corryong Road. This track had not been used for some time and it appeared as we were traversing the area and making our own tracks. There had been a vehicle through at some stage, but it must have been a small one as the trees that were down and cleared with a chainsaw were nowhere close to getting a Nissan through. It was slow going in places with the saw having to be used on several occasions. We reached the river at the bottom and it was a good spot for a bite to eat. The sun was beating down on us and with no shade the only relief was to strand in the river, although Stephanie did her best to fall in. I'm not sure if she meant it or not but John wasn't worried as she was in my vehicle keeping me company. The climb out was steep but nothing that troubled us. We eventually made it to Benambra and stopped to air up and an ice-cream.

We made it back to Omeo Caravan Park mid afternoon which allowed us time to relax and take in another swim. The evening was spent relaxing and finished up earlier for some than others.

Monday 31st

We all had plans back in Melbourne for New Year's Eve so gradually we packed up and departed at different times. John decided to stay the night and spend new years at the park.

This was an area I had wanted to visit ever since I have been four wheeling and was not disappointed with the trip. The scenery, tracks and rivers were all fantastic and I'm sure I won't leave it as long to revisit.

Many thanks to John for leading the trip and those who participated; everyone had a great time.
