President's Report

Hi All

As the year comes to an end, I hope we can all look forward to some time off, and perhaps some travel and adventures.

We have been busy recently, we had a great night a few weeks ago for our off-site meeting at Adrenalin Off-road. Plenty of Pizza was enjoyed and we were updated on the products and services offered by this store. Plenty of interest was shown in the new Hema products.

On the weekend just past we got together at Upper-Yarra Reservoir. The morning started with heavy rain, but we secured a good size BBQ hut. We all enjoyed a good feed and social catch up in a relaxed atmosphere. The sun came out in full force, so we were able to go for a walk and enjoy the Park.

I'm looking forward to next year and the committee is busy organising the calendar for next year which we hope to release at the Feb Meeting.

I'm very excited to announce that Alec has been very busy in the background and has created a brand-new website. We hope to be able to release this over the summer break. We will keep you updated on this exciting transformation.

I hope to see you all at our final meeting for the year on December 03/12/25

A reminder that we have no meeting in January.

Wishing you all a Festive Christmas and a Prosperous New Year.

May your smiles be big and your tyres dusty.

Saturday, 29th November was the date for the for the Club's 2025 End of Year Celebration, a barbecue and day out at Upper Yarra Reservoir Park.

Initially, the weather did not appear to be in our favour. Driving from Melbourne through what could best be described as torrential downpours interspersed with light rain, it was looking more likely that the barbecue would be a sodden and chilly affair, if it went ahead at all. I cheered myself up remembering that 'sodden and chilly' was how one would best describe summer barbecues back my native Scotland.

While McVeigh's Picnic Area is usually fairly quiet, Neville wasn't taking any chances and rocked up at 9:30am to stake his claim in the Rotunda on behalf of the Club. After cleaning the barbecues to a mirror finish and even wiping down the picnic tables, the area was well and truly claimed, and Neville settled down for a peaceful hour or so reading his book after setting up. Thanks, Neville, for organising everything, buying and cooking the meat, the sides, the esky etc., all the rest of us had to do was rock up.

Rock up we did, with the group taking up one half of the car park in the picnic area. While there were a few people camping further up, our group appeared to be the only day trippers, probably no wonder, given the weather. By the time everybody arrived, the rain had stopped and we even saw the sun peeking out at points. Suzy handed round some delicious date loaf that she had made. Thanks, Suzy!

Neville fired up the gas barbecues and cooked up a selection of sausages, burgers and chicken skewers. Alistair was on onion duty (having just turned 9 he has some time to go before graduating to meat). After some time-honoured standing around watching meat and talking cars and fishing, it was time to eat. Again, thanks to Neville for catering, nobody went hungry, and in fact we had some leftover (which was later stolen, stay tuned...)

After lunch, the sun well and truly came out. Not enough to dry the sodden grass, but definitely enough where some were regretting wearing long pants. We took a walk through the woods, past McVeigh's Water Wheel, a historic 4.3-meter wheel that once powered a gold mine's generator, through some grasslands to the recently built playground. The playground includes a slide, climbing net, crawl tunnel, rock climbing wall, monkey bars and seesaw. Alas the basketball/tennis court was far too wet to use, but this is a great area for kids.

After having a play and/or basking in the sunshine, the group made our way back to the rotunda, to find that some enterprising bird or other had poked through the clingfilm on the plate of leftover meat and absconded with a few burgers and sausages. The prime suspect is a magpie we saw lurking around. I'm sure he's a very well-fed bird!

Everyone then packed up their cars and took a drive up to the top of the dam wall to take in the views. While there was no four-wheel-driving planned on this trip, the road to the top was more pothole than road, so we had an unexpected taste of off-roading.

The views were spectacular, and the peace and quiet were palpable. After a walk around, musing about the purpose of a floating something way out on the reservoir surface in the distance, and a few photos, everyone made their way back to the cars and peeled off one by one to make the journey home, full of sausage and sunshine.

A big thank you again to Neville and the Club for a thoroughly enjoyable day out.
