President's Report

Hi All,

I hope you have all been able to get out or starting to plan your next adventure as the weather starts to slowly improve.

I ran a day trip to Mt Matlock-Woods Point the other weekend and we had a great day on the tracks (Even though we missed our Lunch at Woods Point we still called in for a drink and some snacks. It was a great day with awesome people.

This month (Oct) we have some representatives from FWDV coming to our general meeting, they will be sharing some information about the upcoming 50th celebrations they are organising at Merrijig. They will also be sharing some information on what they have been doing and their future plans.

Next Month is our annual offsite meeting. We have organized to attend Adrenalin Offroad Centre in Pakenham. They are an Ironman stockiest and have a great map room with large, laminated maps for all of Australia. They also plan and run trips (More details in mag). Please remember this will be held on the 2nd Wed of the Month 12/11/25. There will be Pizza and soft drinks available.

Suzy has been busy organising a new Club hoody, check out the email and put your order in soon so you don't miss out.

The trip calendar is slowly filling up. If you want to join a trip come to the meeting and put your name down or submit your Trip data plan. Check out the trips section.

Trips Include

Noojee – Day trip

Fishing Weekend

Blue Rag

Camerons Corner (New Years Eve)

Hope to see you all on Wednesday at the meeting.

Trip Report – Mt Skene Snow Trip 2 (16 Aug 2025)

Snowbound on the High Trail – 16 August 2025

Told in the voice of Old Andries, Mountain Rambler

Report by Andre

1. Andre - trip leader- Volkswagon Amarock
2. Dennis – Jeep Wrangler
3. Steven Dishon – Ford Everest
4. Steve and Sophie - Mazda BT50
5. Harsha – Nissan Patrol
6. Sushant – Toyota Hilux

Now gather 'round, young'uns, and let me spin you a yarn 'bout a day when the mountains wore their finest white coats and the engines of brave rigs echoed through the high country.

It was the mornin' of the 16th, cold enough to make your coffee shiver. We met at the Jamieson General Store, 8:45 sharp. The kind of place where the timber creaks under your boots and the coffee tastes like it remembers the gold rush. We warmed our bellies, made our last peace with porcelain, and rolled out—steel horses pointed toward the Jamieson-Licola Road.

The track was rough, like a washboard played by a drunk banjo picker. But we pressed on, eyes peeled, hearts thumpin'. Wasn't long before we saw the first sign—snow, light and scattered, like the mountain was just wakin' up. But by the time we reached the ol' bathtub landmark, the world had turned white and still. Trees stood cloaked in frost, and the ground was soft with fresh powder. We stopped there, took it all in. Some snapped photos. Me? I just breathed deep. That's the kind of air that puts hair on your soul.

From there, it was a clean run to the top. No tracks but ours—we were the first to break trail from the Jamieson side. Felt like pioneers, it did. We had a bit of fun up there, throwin' snowballs and makin' memories, but the sky was brooding. Wind picked up, and the clouds rolled in like a grumpy old bear.

So we turned our noses toward Licola, curious what the other side of the mountain had to say. That's when we met a group comin' up the other way. I tried to give 'em room, but the Amarok got a little too cozy with the snowbank.

Trip Report

Just a bit stuck, mind you—nothing serious. Denis and his Wrangler came in hot, eager as a pup on its first rabbit. Gave me a snatch that near spun me back to Jamieson, but it did the trick.

We carried on down to where the snow thinned and the flakes started fallin' from the sky like feathers from a winter goose. Real snow, soft and silent. We stood there a moment, just listenin'. Then we turned back, bellies rumblin' for lunch.

Back at the top, we tried to eat, but the weather had turned mean. Wind howlin', snow sideways. We didn't linger. Packed up and headed back down the way we came.

The ride home was quiet, uneventful. But as we rolled back into Jamieson, wouldn't you know it—the sun broke through like a promise kept. Warm light on wet roads, steam risin' from the hoods. We aired up, shared a few laughs, and tipped our hats before partin' ways.

A fine day in the high country. Snow, stories, and a little stuck Amarok to keep us humble. Photos to follow!

Andre.

Trip Report – Woods Point Hotel Day Trip (6 Sep 2025)

Reported by – Steven Dishon

1. Neville Van Leeuwen and Riley- Mitsubishi Triton
2. Sushant – Toyota Hilux
3. Andy and Suzy - Mitsubishi Challenger
4. Michael - Ford Ranger
5. Steven Dishon – Ford Everest

We all met up at the Longwarry Servo on a beautiful, fresh Saturday morning, ready for our trip. After a quick briefing from Nev, we headed off. The plan was to head up to Mount Matlock, then head north to check out a few tracks, and then loop back down to Woods Point for lunch at the pub.

We headed up through Neerim and Noojee and had our first stop at Tanjil Bren, which was established during the Victorian Gold Rush. We then continued in what we thought was the correct direction until we ended up at the Mount Baw Baw ticket office, but there was no turnoff in the direction we wanted to head. A quick check of the map revealed that we had to turn off before Tanjil Bren. Nev assured us that we hadn't gone the wrong way; he was just showing us the nice ticket office at Mount Baw Baw.

Anyway, before long, we were back on route and heading up towards Mount Matlock via Toorong Road, Nine Mile Road, and Warburton-Woods Point Road. We had a quick photo stop at Mount Matlock to check out the views and take a few snaps before heading off. There was still a little bit a snow on the ground left over from the previous weeks cold snap.

From there, we headed up Corn Hill Road to the Corn Hill Lookout, which had spectacular views of the high country

We then kept following Corn Hill Road past the Frenchman's Gap turnoff and followed the ridgeline enjoying the views as travelled along Ryans Spur Track, with a stop at the Ryans Spur Hut.

We then turned off onto the Moonlight Spur Track and continued to follow the ridgeline, slowly descending back down to the Mansfield-Woods Point Road. We headed back down towards Woods Point, looking forward to our counter lunch, only to find that the kitchen had closed an hour ago (it was 3 o'clock by this stage).

So, we had a quick refreshment and some packets of chips, then started heading back down towards Matlock. We then turned off onto the Walhalla Road towards the Thompson Dam. We stopped to air up at the dam, then started to head home from there.

We all had a very enjoyable drive with great views, enjoying some beautiful spring weather up in the high country. Thanks Nev for leading the trip.

The stats for the trip

The Loop from Longwarry 350 Km

The trip took about 11hrs with 8hrs of driving time.

Elevation Gain 5679M

Steepest gradient 25%
